Important Changes/Carryovers for the 2026 Gubernatorial Elections

For the 2026 Gubernatorial Elections, there are some important changes and carryovers from the 2024 Elections to the voting process.

- The voting judge to a voter must tell each voter:

"Would you prefer to mark your ballot using the ballot marking device, or by hand using a pen?"

- Election judges should not instruct voters that one method of voting is preferred over the other, except as follows:
 - Election judges should make sure that at least ten (10) voters use a ballot marking device during the day. If ten (10) voters have not used a ballot marking device by 1:00 pm, direct voters to use a ballot marking device until ten (10) voters have used it.
 - If one method of voting has a longer wait time associated with it, an election judge may inform voters of that fact and offer voters the other method of voting.
- Voters are permitted to take their mail-in ballot to an early voting center or polling place. Voted mail-in ballots will have their own secure "Mail-In Ballot Bag" (similar to the provisional ballot bag) that will be taken back to the Carroll County Board of Elections at the end of voting hours. The voter must place their voted mail-in ballot in the "Mail-In Ballot Bag."
- Individuals who are not registered to vote may register at their assigned polling place on election day.
- The following integrity reports are considered critical election documents to be audited post-election. Make sure they are accurately completed with the appropriate signatures by election judges: The Closing Summary Report and ALL reports related to ballots.
- Language Assistance must be provided to voters; voters may bring their own translator, use a translation application on an electronic device, or use a translation service on call. See Chapter 3 for more detail.
- The Provisional Ballot Application has been revised with more specific reason codes for "Abs Issued." Please see Chapter 9 for more information.

Tips for Election Judges

- Bring a sweater or jacket in case the polling place is cold.
- Bring enough food and drinks to last the entire day.
- Bring any medicine you may need, as you may not leave the polling place to get anything.

Types of Election Judges

Chief Judges are the supervisory officials responsible for ensuring an orderly election. They have varied responsibilities including picking up election supplies at an assigned time, supervising setting up the polling place the Monday evening before election day, supervising other election judges, opening scanning units and ballot marking devices, substituting for election judges when necessary, maintaining the peace, protecting the integrity of the voting process, making all the necessary telephone calls to the elections office, closing the polls, returning the supplies and ballots as a bipartisan team, and completing all forms and reports assigned to the chief judges.

Election Field Support is responsible for setting up, tearing down and troubleshooting the pollbooks, scanning units and ballot marking devices in the polling place. They assist the chief judges with opening and closing the voting equipment, assist where needed in the polling place during voting hours and return the scanning unit memory sticks and pollbook CF cards on election night.

Provisional Check-In Judges are responsible for all check-in judge tasks but also include issuing provisional ballot applications and provisional ballots, accounting for provisional ballots and envelopes, ensuring security of provisional ballot materials, processing individuals who are not registered to vote and want to register at their assigned polling place on election day.

Check-In Judges search for voter registration information in the pollbook, issue voter authority cards, issue and collect voter update forms, and send appropriate voters to the provisional judges.

Voting Judges assist in opening the polls, collecting and counting voter authority cards, monitoring voter activity around the voting booths, scanning units, and ballot marking devices, explaining and giving general instruction to voters on the voting system, issuing paper ballots or ballot activation cards and a privacy sleeve to the voter, assist in closing the polls, assist chief judges with completing all forms and reports concerning the voting system, and any other duties assigned by the chief judges. Voting judges will also greet voters as they enter the polling place, direct voters to the correct voting room if more than one precinct is in the facility, answer basic questions for the voter, and assist with line management.

Term of Office

The term of office for an election judge is approximately two years and ends thirteen weeks before the 2028 Presidential Primary Election. You are expected to serve as an election judge for all elections held during that period. This may include special elections that are called during the two-year term of office.

Removal of an Election Judge

On election day, you represent the Carroll County Board of Elections. Each person who enters the polling place deserves your respect and polite service. Always act in a professional way and keep a positive attitude. Support and help voters, even when things get difficult.

The Carroll County Board of Elections shall immediately investigate all complaints about the fitness, qualification, or performance of an election judge. They shall also investigate all reports of harassment, sexual harassment, threatening behavior, or behavior that compromises the integrity and security of the election process.

The Carroll County Board of Elections shall remove any election judge whom the local board decides is unfit or incompetent, or whose behavior is considered inappropriate or unprofessional. If you are removed from being an election judge, you may lose your wage and lose future chances to serve as an election judge.

How You Can Vote

If you are assigned to work in a precinct that is not your home precinct, you must vote during early voting or by mail-in ballot. If you choose to vote by mail-in ballot, ask for a mail-in ballot from your Carroll County Board of Elections.

1-10 General Information

You may mail or deliver your voted ballot to the Carroll County Board of Elections before election day. You may also take your completed mail-in ballot to an early voting center or to a polling place or drop it off in a drop box. You cannot submit your voted ballot online or return it by email or fax. You are not allowed to leave your assigned polling place to deliver your ballot to the Carroll County Board of Elections.

If you mail your ballot, the envelope must be postmarked on or before election day. It must be received by the Carroll County Board of Elections by 10:00 a.m. on or before Monday, July 6, 2026, for the primary election or Friday, November 13, 2026, for the general election.

If you have any questions, please contact the Carroll County Board of Elections.

General Policies About Voters

Voter ID Policy

Voters are not required to “Show ID” unless the voter is marked as “Show ID” in the pollbook, then you must ask the voter to show ID. If the voter does not show an ID, then the voter should be given a provisional ballot and instructed on providing identification to the local board of elections before the provisional canvass.

If a voter offers an ID, you may accept it, but the voter must verbally state their name, address, and month and day of birth. A voter who cannot speak may choose to write down their information or provide a document with their information to give to the check-in judge. Check-in judges should have blank paper and pens available or accept a document with the required information.

If someone challenges a voter’s identity, tell a chief judge immediately.

Children Accompanying Voters

Children who are 17 years of age or younger may go with a voter into the voting area. The child must stay with the voter and must not disturb or interrupt normal voting procedures.

Anyone who is 18 years of age or older must complete a Voter Assistance Form if he or she goes with a voter into the voting area.

Electronic Equipment in the Polling Place

Except as provided below, no one can use electronic devices inside the polling room. Prohibited devices include radios, televisions, cameras, cell phones, tablets, and computer equipment.

There are some exceptions to this rule:

- If both chief judges agree, members of the media may use cameras in a polling place and within the “No Electioneering Zone.” Members of the media must not interfere with the voting process and may not put the privacy of voters at risk. The media may use their cameras to pan the room but not focus on any voter’s personal information or ballot.
- The local board of elections may issue – or authorize – cell phones or computer equipment that may be used by election judges or staff from the Carroll County Board of Elections in the polling place. These electronic devices may only be used for election purposes.
- Law enforcement officers and emergency workers may use electronic devices when they are doing their jobs.
- Voters may bring printed materials into the polling room (including sample ballots, voter guides from newspapers, and campaign literature). They may use electronic devices only while waiting in line outside of the polling room. Once they have entered the polling room, voters may only use electronic devices for the purposes of language assistance, to show ID, to review electoral information before marking the voter’s own ballot, or to take a photo of the voter’s own marked ballot for personal use.

Line Management

To help voters have a better experience while waiting in line:

- Have single lines leading to the check-in table, voting booths, ballot marking devices, and scanning units.
- Check with voters waiting in line to make sure voters are at the correct polling place and in the correct line.
- Give voters the opportunity to look at a sample ballot while in line.

- Provide voters instructions about the voting system and voting procedures.
- Allow voters to read literature, including information about candidates and ballot questions, while waiting in line inside or outside the polling room. Voters may read newspapers, books, fliers, pamphlets, etc.
- Allow voters to use electronic devices (cell phones, tablets, etc.) while waiting in line outside of the polling room.
- Inform voters about expected wait times while they are waiting in line. If there are any delays, explain them to the voter.

Accommodating Voters in Line

If a voter shares that they are elderly, disabled, or otherwise unable to stand for long periods of time, provide the voter in need and the next voter standing in line the paired Placeholder Cards. Allow the voter needing assistance to sit down until the placeholder reaches the next stage of the voting process. Tell the voter standing in line to alert the election judges and show them the card when it is the seated voter's turn to vote.

Never ask a voter to provide proof of a disability or about the nature of their disability. A voter's disability may not always be apparent.
